

Philosophy Night:

Thursday August 17th, 2017 @ 7 pm

Guest Speaker:

Fr. John Arcidiacono

"The Philosophical Discovery of God"

Come and learn about the heights to which our human knowledge may attain! Even without the supernatural light of faith, the human person can discover certain things about God by the natural light of reason such as: His existence, His divine attributes, and His providence. Using St. Thomas Aquinas, Aristotle, and the Catechism of the Catholic Church as our guides, we will enter into a philosophical contemplation of the First Being (God) and strengthen the rational foundation upon which our faith rests. This philosophical knowledge of God is a very important basis for our spiritual life and helps us to dialog with those who do not yet have faith.

"Holy Mother Church holds and teaches that God, the beginning and end of all things, may be certainly known by the natural light of human reason, by means of created things; 'for the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made.'" (Pius IX. Vatican I., Dei Filius)

No reading is necessary ahead of time. Just show up. Questions? Email Fr. Eric Andersen eandersen@archdpx.org. Snacks provided. Ages High School and up.

Adoration and Confessions in the church begin at 6:30.

Philosophy Night will be from 7-9 pm in the Rectory Basement.

St. Stephen Catholic Church

1112 SE 41st Ave (between Taylor and Salmon)

Portland, Oregon. 97214